(13/B4 - SECS-P/11 - Economia degli intermediari finanziari)
Bolzano Campus

Profile

Candidates should have a PhD in Finance or a related discipline and possess significant experience in teaching to warrant appointment as an associate professor. The preferred candidate is able to teach in German, and has a portfolio of courses that may include economics of financial intermediaries, banking, financial markets, investment management. Candidates must have an excellent record of scientific publications with high impact factor consistent with type "A" publications as indicated by the Italian National Research Agency ANVUR-GEV13. All fields of Financial intermediation, Banking, Financial Markets, Investments will be considered. The successful candidate will join the Research Cluster in Financial Markets and Regulation and take an active lead in the development of research initiatives in her/his areas of expertise. The Research Cluster is looking for candidates who want to develop research and innovative teaching on the role and impact of new technologies for banks, nonbank financial intermediaries and investment funds.

Position

The position offered is at the Associate Professor Level in Economics of Financial Intermediaries (Professore Associato in the scientific sector SECS-P/11 under the Italian academic system). The position is tenured, full-time, and with a minimum teaching load of 120 hours per academic year.

The position compensation structure is competitive with that of top European universities and, depending on individual circumstances, may give rise to fiscal advantages. The expected starting date is April 2019, but it is subject to the approval of a new Master degree in Accounting and Finance by the Italian Minister of University and Research (MIUR).

For further information, please contact Prof. Maurizio Murgia – maurizio.murgia@unibz.it. For general information about the position, terms and conditions of working at the Faculty of Economics and Management please contact the Dean Prof. Oswin Maurer – oswin.maurer@unibz.it.

Requirements

According to Italian legislation, only candidates already holding an equivalent academic position (Associate Professor) at their current foreign university qualify for a "direct call from abroad".

Furthermore, the Selection Committee will consider applicants meeting the following conditions:

- a) evidence of high-quality teaching and mentoring through student or department evaluations;
- b) significant level of service to the department, the university and the profession;
- c) evidence of ability to raise external funds for research;
- d) knowledge of at least two of the three official teaching languages at the Faculty of Economics and Management (German, Italian, English).

The Free University of Bozen-Bolzano aims at increasing the proportion of women in research and teaching and therefore specifically encourages female scientists to submit their expression of interest.

About the Faculty

The Faculty of Economics and Management was founded in 1998 and counts at present over 1000 students and more than 50 faculty members who study and work in three languages: German, Italian and English.
