

Research in Behavioral Finance Conference (RBFC) 2016
Call For Papers

15 - 16 September, Amsterdam, the Netherlands

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS:

John Coates, University of Cambridge

Harrison Hong, Princeton University

Ulrike Malmendier, University of California Berkeley

PAPER SUBMISSION PROCEDURE: We invite submissions of empirical and theoretical papers on all aspects of behavioral finance, to be considered for presentation at the second Research in Behavioral Finance Conference. Submissions may be in the form of completed papers or extended abstracts.

We welcome work that examines the financial decisions of individuals (in their role as consumers, investors, managers or advisors), the financial behavior of groups and organizations (in the public and private sectors), the dynamics of markets, or the interaction among these different forms of aggregation.

Online submission is open. Full papers and extended abstracts can be submitted in PDF format until 31 May 2016. Notifications will be made in the second half of June.
